WIND ON THE HILL

A.A.Milne

No one can tell me,
Nobody knows,
Where the wind comes from,
Where the wind goes.

It's flying from somewhere
As fast as it can,
I couldn't keep up with it,
Not if I ran.

But if I stopped holding
The string of my kite,
It would blow with the wind
For a day and night.

When used it can warm you up
But try not to burn your hand
When he comes down a chimney
This is where Santa would land

With enough winter flakes
Two or three spheres is

Then you can make this friend
With a scarf, carrot and coal

If you lay down in white flakes
Out in the winter air
Move your arms and legs about
What is it you leave there?

/// HISTORY OF CHOCOLATE ///

For over four thousand years, people have enjoyed chocolate's rich and creamy taste, however, when it was first discovered, it was a bitter drink used in sacred ceremonies by the Mayans and Aztecs before the Spanish found it. The Mayans and the Aztecs made the chocolate into a bitter drink for ceremonial and money purposes. When the Europeans discovered the chocolate, they refined it by adding sugar and milk.

Christopher Columbus was the first European to discover the cacao beans, he then brought some back to Spain to show King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella; Europeans later sweetened and fattened the chocolate by adding sugar and milk; these two ingredients were unknown to the Mayans and Aztecs. There are three main types of chocolates which are milk, white, and dark chocolate. Dark chocolate is formed by adding sugar and fat to the cacao mixture, and when taken in moderation, it is considered very healthy.

Chocolate has come a long way, dating back from the Mayan times to the all-time favorite sweet of today; in it's beautiful silver and golden wrappings.

WOLF, A FOX AND A CROW

Once upon a time in a small wood there lived Walter, the little wolf, and Fiona, the fox. They were good friends and often played different games together.

Once a crow came to live in the wood. Her name was Cathy. Cathy didn't have friends in the forest. That's why she was often sad. Cathy wanted to make friends with Walter and Fiona.

One day she came to them and said, "Hello! My name is Cathy. I don't have friends in your wood. Can I play with you?" Fiona and Walter asked, "Do you like sports?" "Of course, I do," answered the crow, because she wanted to play with Walter and Fiona very much. "Then let's ride the bikes!" said Walter. Fiona and Walter happily rode their bikes, but the crow couldn't ride a bike with them. She didn't know how to ride a bike. "OK," said Fiona, "Let's roller-skate!" Fiona and Walter roller-skated and laughed, but Cathy couldn't roller-skate with them, she didn't know how to roller-skate. After that Walter and Fiona played tennis, but the crow couldn't play with them because she didn't know how to play tennis. Finally, Fiona said, "You don't like sports! You can't ride a bike, you can't roller-skate, you can't play tennis!" Walter agreed, "You can't play with us!"

Cathy was very upset. She was very angry with Walter and Fiona and wanted to play a trick on them. She found them in the field. Walter and Fiona were playing with a ball. They were throwing the ball into the basket, which stood in the middle of the field. Cathy wanted to stop their game. She quickly took the basket into her beak and flew into the air. Fiona looked at Cathy and cried «Oh, Cathy, it's a very good idea! You're so clever!" Walter agreed, «It's great, Cathy! We're sorry we didn't want to play with you. Let's play together. You'll fly with the basket and we'll throw the ball in it! It'll be fun!" Cathy was surprised. She could play with Walter and Fiona. After that day Fiona and Walter always played with Cathy who couldn't ride a bike or play tennis, but always taught them new games.

ABRACADABRA!

I make two circles, then one more
Touch my nose and then the floor
Here's the first spell we will try,
Abracadabra! You will fly!

Just two circles in the air
One down here and one up there
Touch your shoulder, then your shoe,
Abracadabra! You turn blue!

I think I know what's going wrong
So chant with me – sing along!
One, two, three, four circles in the air,
Abracadabra! You've got no hair!

Let's hold it together, here we go!
Make big circles, head to toe.
Touch your chin and then your nose,
Abracadabra! And your head grows!

Let's try one more time and see
If a spell will work for me.
Touch your elbow, then your knee,
Abracadabra! You're a bumble bee!

The spells don't work, but we're OK.
It isn't real, it's only play.
We've had some fun with our silly game.
Abracadabra! We're just the same.
